I get lots of inquiries about tour companies that offer stellar tour venues in France. One I can highly recommend is France Off the Beaten Path Travel helmed by American Christy Destremau. Christy hails originally from Philadelphia but she met a charming French yachtsman, married him, and now raises her two teenagers in France.

Christy began her tour company several decades ago and features a superb multi-day packaged tour experience that includes charming accommodations, dining and cooking adventures, and visits to some of the most beautiful sites in France. (I can recommend the tours as a recent guest myself. We enjoyed multiple cooking experiences, a variety of dining venues, eye-opening tours of various sites, and a real look inside intimate France with a guide who not only lives there, but is raising her family there.)

Also a keen photographer, Christy offers the added bonus of a collection of stunning tour photos as keepsakes for each tour experience. France Off the Beaten Path tours include Provence, the Loire Valley, Champagne, and her new luxury tour of Bordeaux, world capital of wine.

The Bordeaux tour features grand cru wine tastings, dining at some of the best venues in Southwestern France, and stays (and spa treatments if you like) at the fabulous Les Sources de Caudalie Resort and Spa (recommended in my book Intoxicating Southern France).
